Hearing Continues In Matter Of Finding Value Of Reservoir

New York City Objects to Alleged High Assessment of Reservoir Property by Town of Olive—Tells Value of Lands.

Additional testimony was taken before Referee Mambert in the matter of finding the value of the city of New York in the town of Olive for the year 1929. It is the claim of the city that its property was assessed for too much when the assessors placed a $5,000,000 assessment in 1929. The city seeks to show that other property in the town was assessed for far less than its full value while the city's valuation was placed at or near full value.

There are two proceedings now before the court. One before Referee Mambert to review the 1929 assessment and the second before Referee Norton to review the 1930 assessment. The hearings are being alternated so that both cases may be concluded as soon as possible and at about the same time. No action has been taken yet as to the 1931 assessment which the city also protests.

Land Value Experts

Testimony thus far has been confined to documentary evidence and the testimony of land value experts. Major Quinn, engineer for the city, and Mr. Hubbard, division engineer of the Catskill and Croton division, have testified as to maps and surveys of the property and James E. Sneed, Jr. as testified as to market values of the real property of the city as well as to a comparison of market values of other parcels in the town and their assessed valuation. This is designed to indicate that the assessors in laying an assessment in many cases assessed for about 20 per cent to 30 per cent of the market value while the city was assessed at full value. It is the purpose of the city to attempt to show that the city has been discriminated against and its lands assessed far out of proportion to the assessments on other properties. With this idea in view parcels have been selected and the assessments shown and Mr. Sneed has testified to the market value of the parcels. In most instances his figures showed about a 20 per cent to 25 per cent assessment. This is denied by the assessors who claim that they have fairly assessed all the property in the town and that the valuations which the city is placing on property in the town is far in excess of its market value while it undervalues its own property.

Before the hearings are concluded there will be a vast amount of testimony by both the petitioner and the respondent as to values. It will be necessary to hear experts on construction costs of the city's water works property after the real estate experts have been heard. On the real estate parcels "market value" is the governing factor but on buildings of a "unique" nature used for some special purpose such as the dams, dykes and special buildings and which have no market value other than that for the purpose to which they are devoted, that is water works purposes, it will be necessary to show replacement costs less depreciation in order to arrive at their real value in 1929 when the assessment was laid.

First Tax Is Nominal

For several years the city of New York was given a nominal assessment. Then came a decision that this type of property, exclusive of aqueduct, etc., might be assessed at water works property and on its cost of replacement value. The assessors immediately in compliance with that order had competent engineers appraise the special or "unique" structures and after receiving the report of the engineers laid their assessment. The city objected and sought to review the assessments in the town affected. The Olive case was moved first since it is in that town that the majority of the city's valuable property lies.

Major Quinn was first called and identified a map which had been prepared under his direction showing the city's property in the town of Olive as outlined in school districts. The map shows roads, dams and dykes and other buildings used for water works purposes as well as the substitute roads which the city built. The map does not show the storage houses, dwellings and other buildings which the city claims are not used for water works purposes.

It is this contention that the town differs on with the city. The towns claim that all of the property and buildings in the Ashokan basin owned by the city of New York are a part of one complete plant and that there can be no separation. The town claims the city has no right to take for instance a machine shop or garage owned by the city of New York and show its market or sale value as a separate parcel. It is the claim that these machine shops or garages or other structures are a part of and necessary to the operation of the reservoir and that as a part of the complete plant have a special value which is not the market or sale value of similar property which is not a part of a complete reservoir plant.

Suggest Canada May Break With U. S. On Trade At Conference

Stanley Bruce Suggests British Empire Trade Conference May Break Means For Canada To Break On Trade With United States.

Ottawa, Ont., July 26 (AP).—An inference that the British Empire trade conference, which opens tomorrow, might prove a means for Canada to "break away from the influence of the United States" was pumped into the laps of the Empire delegates today.

Stanley M. Bruce, former premier of Australia, stabbed through the maze of predictions of success that resound through the corridors where the conference is talked to place in blunt words a question which was uppermost in all minds. "Will a cohesive trade policy within the units of the British Empire be purchased," he asked, "at the cost of American commercial relations with Canada?"

Referring to the United States, Canada's best customer, as a "major problem," Bruce said: "There is always that tendency to be absorbed by a bigger country. This ought to be Canada's chance to break away."

Canadians Unprepared.

The Canadians, although they are prepared to open the conference tomorrow with a proposal for an economic alignment of one-third of the earth's population and one-fourth of its known land surface against the remainder, seemed unprepared for the bluntness of Bruce.

His pronouncement carried them back to 1911 when the Canadian conservatives cried their fears of annexation over the efforts of the Taft administration to institute reciprocal trade between the United States and Canada.

There was no direct answer to the Bruce suggestion, but the Canadian prime minister, who is believed ready to demand lower tariffs against British manufacturers in return for broader markets in the United Kingdom for their agricultural products, said they did not want a British wheat quota.

These groups came from the old Canadian liberal stock which fought for reciprocity with the United States and were defeated by the vote of the maritime provinces, whose infant industries subsequently were heavily subsidized by the Dominion government.

These farmers still insist they would rather buy tools and equipment in Minneapolis and Duluth if the Ottawa government would lower the tariff on these articles. They would also like to see the American tariff against wheat and feeder cattle knocked down so they might take advantage of rich feed lots and wide export facilities in the United States.

Reciprocity still means more to them than a dominion's share in a circumscribed market 4,000 miles away.

Causes Excitement

The apparent about-face caused considerable excitement in the British delegation which still hopes, however, for the support of the western farmers in forcing eastern industry to make tariff reductions and other concessions with England and the Empire nations overseas.

American business representatives, almost more numerous here than the Canadians, stirred uneasily over Bruce's statement, which was issued in printed form, but they held to the view that the Ottawa government would not jeopardize a trade with the United States worth $900,000,000 in 1931, for a trade with the British Isles valued at approximately $499,000,000.

Canada's Exports to the United States

Canada's exports to the United States last year totaled about $350,000,000 and her exports to the United Kingdom about $220,000,000. Her imports from the United States were $584,000,000 against $499,000,000 from the United Kingdom.

Mrs. Lillian Sadur Struck by Auto

Chambers Street Woman Confined to Kingston Hospital, and Samuel Gruskin, Driver of the Auto, Was Arrested on Reckless Driving Charge.

Mrs. Lillian Sadur of 25 Chambers street, was struck and injured by an automobile driven by Samuel Gruskin, 23, of Brooklyn, about 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon on the Strand, near her place of business. Mrs. Sadur recently purchased the tobacco business of John Doolin, who retired from business after spending over a quarter of a century on the Strand.

Following the accident Mrs. Sadur was removed to the Kingston Hospital for treatment, in the ambulance. X-rays are to be taken to determine the extent of her injuries. Policeman James P. Martin placed Gruskin under arrest on a charge of reckless driving. Gruskin furnished bail in the sum of $200 for his appearance in police court this morning at which time he entered a plea of not guilty and the hearing was adjourned to July 28.

Shipping Protected Below Montreal in Waterway Project

Washington, July 26 (AP).—Montreal harbor shipping and the navigable depths in the St. Lawrence below Montreal were reported today by the joint board of engineers to be adequately protected against injurious effect in the two-dam plan adopted for the St. Lawrence seaway.

This report, which supplements one made in 1925, has much fuller information about the rock surfaces of the Rapids section where the dams are to be built than was previously available, as many additional borings have been made at Crystal Island and Barnhart Island which persuaded the engineers that the two proposed dam sites are absolutely safe.

The report was made public today by the state department. Two towns flooded. Two Ontario towns, Morrisburg and Iroquois, will be partly flooded by the Crystal dam, but adequate provision has been made in the estimates for their rehabilitation. No considerable damage will be done on the American side by raising the water levels.

The report estimates the average head of water which will be made available at the Crystal Island dam will be 21.2 feet in summer and 19.6 feet in winter, while at Barnhart Island it will be 60.4 feet in summer and 55.4 feet in winter.

President Hoover mentioned the protection for Montreal in his announcement of the two-dam, or two-stage plan. This protection has played a large part in the negotiations as Quebec province has been somewhat hostile to the development of the St. Lawrence power by Canada and the United States jointly.

Montreal Opposed.

However, the province is apparently the only one opposed to the treaty which has just been signed and probably will not delay ratification although Premier Taschereau, of Quebec, has announced he will fight the construction of the waterway.

The engineers' report says the construction of the two dams agreed upon will require the placing of 4,074,000 cubic yards of solid rock and 90,000,000 cubic yards of earth and other material.

The three Americans on the joint board of engineers which made the report are all army engineers. Colonel H. B. Ferguson, Colonel Edward M. Markham and Major Eugene Reyhold. The Canadian members are D. W. MacLachlan, O. Lefebvre and C. H. Mitchell.

HEAD THROUGH WINDSHIELD BUT ABLE TO CONTINUE TRIP

Robert William Harris of 111 Street, Richmond Hill, L. I., accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Alice Harris and Edna Miller of Roselle Park, N. J., were on their way to the boarding house of Harry West at Rosedale, about 12:45 this morning, when their Willys-Knight sedan was in collision with the Marmon sport touring car of Lacy Burger, of 68 Newkirk avenue.

Mrs. Harris' head went through the windshield of their car and she received cuts about the head that required several stitches. She was treated by Dr. Schillingbaum at the Kingston Hospital and was able to leave for her boarding house at Rosedale later. The other members of the party and Burger were uninjured. Both cars were badly damaged by the collision, which took place near an S turn between the Whiteport Hotel and the Bloomington road.

The sheriff's office was notified and Deputy Sheriff Albrecht made an investigation, but made no arrest at the time.

CONTINUE STUDY OF INSURANCE SWINDLE

Albany, N. Y., July 26 (AP).—Police today continued their investigation into an insurance swindle, which resulted yesterday in the arrest of seven persons charged with obtaining money through fake "accidents."

James Quinn, of Buffalo, was said by police to be the leader of the gang. He was held in $50,000 bail. The others were one man in Albany, three in Buffalo, and two men and a woman in Syracuse. Their names were being withheld by police.

The "accidents" on which the group was said to have collected were reported in Genes Falls, Troy, Syracuse, Lathams, Poughkeepsie and Utica.

BLACK ROCK'S GRAND OLD MAN IS DEAD

Buffalo, N. Y., July 26 (AP).—Richard Humphrey, 83, one of the founders more than 45 years ago of the Black Rock Business Men's Association and known to many as the "grand old man of Black Rock," died today. He had been in poor health since last August, when he underwent an operation.

Mr. Humphrey was born in Wales, March 7, 1851, and came to America at the age of 20. He was one of the pioneer steamboat operators on the Niagara river and was superintendent of the western division of the large canal for eight years.

Divers Continue To Search For Bodies In St. Lawrence Blasts

Three Known Dead, Four Missing and Eight in Hospitals Result From Explosion of Drill Boat "America"

Alexandria Bay, N. Y., July 26 (AP).—The toll of the explosion of the drill boat "America" in the St. Lawrence River near here yesterday reached three known dead, four missing and eight men in hospitals today with the death of Earl Russell, 17, one of those previously numbered among the injured. He died this morning from cerebral concussion.

Eight other men were injured when a ton and a half of dynamite planted on the rocky bottom of the St. Lawrence River exploded under the hull of the 150-foot boat. A second explosion within the boat immediately afterward scattered its fragments and the members of its crew over a wide area in the St. Lawrence River.

The valley for miles around was shaken by the blast.

Two bodies were brought up from the wreckage of the sunken drill boat last night before the diver found it necessary to abandon his search because of muddy water and obstructions.

"Conditions down there are unbearable," the diver, George Fisher, of Ogdensburg, N. Y., said after recovering the bodies of Ivan Rush, 32, of LaSalle, Ill., who had been in charge of the America, and Joe Slusarski, 24, a "dynamite man," also from LaSalle.

Water Very Muddy.

Fisher said the water was "so muddy and the wreckage so terribly tangled" that even with the aid of powerful lamps he was unable to find other bodies except the two which lay at his feet when he reached the river bottom.

Bodies of four other men were believed to lie nearby. These five were the only members of the crew of sixteen unaccounted for.

The explosion occurred as the America was preparing to blast rock from the American channel near Chippewa Bay, a few miles from here, and less than ten miles from Brockville, Ont., where a Canadian drill boat blew up in 1930 with the loss of 31 lives.

Lightning struck the Canadian boat, but it was not known today what caused the explosion under the America.

A member of the crew who escaped with minor injuries, said he believed the "loader" used to pack dynamite in the drill hole had fallen accidentally against the dynamite cap which would have fired the charge later when the America had moved a safe distance away.

Boat Lifted From Water.

After the explosion, members of the fashionable Thousand Islands colony hurried to the scene in motor boats. They saw only settling smoke and dust and the river surface strewn with wreckage. The America had disappeared.

Witnesses later said she rose bodily from the water, broke in half, and was blown to bits by the second explosion.

Robert Voight, of Ogdensburg, a chauffeur on one of the islands, saw the explosion, which occurred about two miles from the American shore. Voight and a man named Joe Smith jumped into a speedboat.

"We felt a great shock," Voight said, "and looked up to see the America blown out of the water. She fell back in two parts in fountains of water."

"We saw men blown high in the air."

Saw Fire Sink

"We reached the scene before anyone else and picked up three men. We saw at least five others sink without a struggle before we could reach them. They were either dead or unconscious."

"An oil tanker came down the river, ploughing through the floating wreckage. She threw several life preservers over, stopped a moment, then went on without lowering a boat."

"In the meantime, however, other boats had arrived from the islands."

Most of the missing and injured were from the vicinity of Alexandria Bay. Those missing today were:

Arnold Freeman, 25, driller on No. 2 drill which had just jacked the dynamite; Jimmy Priestly, 27, doing his first day's work as helper; William Alkin, Sr., 44, and Willard Chase, 22, blacksmith's helper. All were from Alexandria Bay.

The injured: United States Inspector Carma, believed to be from Washington, D. C., who was inspecting the work for the Federal government; Vincent McLean, 21; Thomas Collins, 24; William Alkin, Jr., 24; Derek Wagner, 33; and Harry Dooly, 25, all of Alexandria Bay, and William McLean, 33, Chippewa Bay.

All were injured in the legs and ankles by the upward blast. Rowland Russell was the only one for whose recovery doubt was held.

Natives on Hunger Strike

Nelson, B. C., July 26 (AP).—In protest against the deaths of two Doukhobor children, wards of the government, in homes at Vancouver, 120 Doukhobor women imprisoned here since late in May for parading in the nude, went on a hunger strike and have not eaten since Saturday.

Dino Grandi Resigns As Foreign Minister In Cabinet Shake-Up

Young Italian Foreign Minister Leaves Post as Mussolini Changes Five Ministers and 11 Under-Secretaries.

Rome, July 26 (AP).—Dino Grandi, Italian foreign minister, resigned today in a far-reaching cabinet shake-up ordered by Premier Mussolini.

Five ministers and eleven under-secretaries were displaced. Mussolini retained for himself two of the vacated portfolios.

These constituted the first changes in the cabinet since September, 1929. The shake-up was regarded as another "rotation" to bring new blood into the government without any change of policy.

The five ministers who resigned were Grandi, Alfredo Rocco, minister of justice; Antonio Mosconi, minister of finance; Prof. Edmondo Guilleaume, minister of education; and Giuseppe Bottai, minister of corporations.

Mussolini, who already was minister of interior as well as premier, kept for himself the ministries of foreign affairs and corporations.

Displaces Giunta.

Among the eleven under-secretaries displaced was Rocco's own right-hand man, Francesco Giunta.

Best known of all those relieved is the dapper, young, black-haired Signor Grandi, whose name has figured in most of the international affairs which have played such a part on the world stage during the past year.

He came to the United States last year to confer with President Hoover following visits by Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain and Premier Laval of France, and was greeted here with honors equal to the heads of the other two governments.

Mussolini, who held the premiership and six ministries before the present cabinet was appointed in 1929, took back about half the power he had then with his rearrangement today. Besides assuming the ministries of foreign affairs and corporations, he took over all relations with the Vatican and all religious affairs, by detaching the department of cults from the ministry of justice and adding it to the ministry of interior under himself.

He appointed the following three new ministers: Pietro De Francischi, minister of justice; Guido Jung, minister of finance; and Francesco Ercole, minister of education. Signor De Francischi is rector of the University of Rome and Signor Ercole rector of the University of Palermo.

COURT ORDERS PADLOCK REMOVED FROM PROPERTY

United States District Court Judge Goddard granted a motion Tuesday made by Palmer Canfield in behalf of Dr. Samuel Bookman to direct the United States Marshal to open up and release a padlock against property on Amsterdam avenue, New York City. The Bookman estate covers a number of premises in New York City and one of the properties was padlocked in June because it was claimed the tenant sold some wine from the premises.

Dr. Bookman showed that he had left the supervision and management of the property with one of the largest real estate agencies in New York and that he had ousted the tenant from the premises. Proof was also presented to the court showing that an application had been received to lease the premises to other parties for a laundry that would be operated without any violation of the national prohibition act or any other law.

Upon the showing of these facts Judge Goddard granted the application and directed that the premises be turned back for the use of Dr. Bookman.

BURNED TO DEATH AS HUNDREDS SEE FIRE

Ossining, N. Y., July 26 (AP).—Lester Hubbard, 34, of La Grange, Ill., was burned to death here last night before the eyes of police and hundreds of spectators, unable to help, when a large motor van he was driving crashed into a wall.

The gasoline tank was crushed and flames enveloped the truck within a few seconds. Hubbard was pinned behind the wheel.

Ralph Wolf, 30, of Maywood, Ill., part owner of the van with Hubbard, was thrown from the truck. He suffered slight burns. Wolf was asleep at the time of the crash.

The smallest group is from Southern Rhodesia, whose premier, Hon. H. W. Moffatt, heads a party of eight.

EUROPEANS ENJOY CAFETERIA SERVING

Ottawa, July 26 (AP).—European visitors here for the Imperial Conference are reeling in the novelty of North America's cafeteria style of serving meals.

Last night a number of men and women in evening dress took their places in line with their trays, apparently enjoying the adventure hugely.

Germany Establish Dictatorship Over Huge Prussian State

City of Berlin Under Martial Law as Lord Mayor Franz Bracht of Essen Is Made Virtual Dictator.

Berlin, July 26 (AP).—The German government, with old-time military precision, moved swiftly this morning to establish a virtual dictatorship over the huge state of Prussia and to clamp down martial law on the city of Berlin and the province of Brandenburg.

The first action was taken under an emergency decree issued by President von Hindenburg this morning. It followed critical pressure upon the government to stop the political riots which have taken a toll of more than 100 dead and 1,200 injured in the last three weeks.

Chancellor Franz von Papen was appointed commissioner of Prussia and Lord Mayor Franz Bracht of Essen was named the chancellor's assistant and given the dictatorial power, in von Papen's name.

The decree of martial law was issued when Karl Severing, Prussian minister of interior, declined to accept the president's first emergency decree as binding and declared he would yield only to force. General Gerd von Rundstedt, commander of the Third Reichswehr (army) district, was placed in charge of Berlin and Brandenburg under the martial law order. He was also given command of all police forces in this area.

Chancellor von Papen decided, for the present at least, to remove only Premier Braun and Herr Severing from the Prussian Ministry, leaving the rest of the members of the senate cabinet in office as his deputies.

Besides deputizing Herr Bracht to exercise the general dictatorial power he charged him especially to take over Severing's functions as minister of interior.

A government spokesman said President von Hindenburg's action was taken only with a view of establishing security and order in Prussia and that it was merely a passing measure.

Herr Bracht arrived here by airplane today to begin his duties. The martial law decree emphasized that "the independence of Prussia within the framework of the constitution is not touched by the emergency decree."

The government charged that while the other states of the Reich squelched communistic disorders Prussia failed to do so.

Early in the afternoon the Prussian Ministry of State in the Wilhelmstrasse was occupied by soldiers. The president of the police, the vice-president and the commander resigned.

Immediately thereafter the Prussian cabinet announced it had appealed to the state supreme court to declare the emergency decree null and void on the grounds that there was no emergency requiring such action and that in reality the decree "has other purposes."

Herr Bracht swept the entire Prussian press department out of office, as one of his first acts.

Meanwhile the military, to prevent possible attacks upon the government, reinforced the usual guard and set up machine guns in the court in front of the Federal chancellery.

In his decision Justice Steinbrink said in passing that the action of Hyzinski, son of the assaulted woman, who testified that he had taken "a poke or two" at the prisoner, was "perhaps understandable."

"There is no slightest doubt," Justice Steinbrink said, "that Stark died because of what happened at the police headquarters. The fact that he was a criminal makes no difference. If that could be taken into account it would be just as justifiable to take these policemen and beat them until they confessed their part in this brutal killing."

In turning the policemen against whom he issued warrants over to the sheriff Justice Steinbrink told them it was "about time you men realized the best thing you can do is go to the District Attorney and tell the truth."

PLAN TO ARRAIGN AGENT FOR RECKLESS DRIVING FRIDAY

Alexandria Bay, N. Y., July 26 (AP).—Notwithstanding the action of Federal Judge Bryant in Malone yesterday in removing the case of Prohibition Agent Bourke A. Bornemann of Syracuse from the jurisdiction of county officials, plans for the arraignment of the enforcement agent on a reckless driving charge here next Friday night were going ahead today.

Justice Bornemann's removal today from the government's more now was that the government's move now was to appear at the hearing in justice court on Friday and formally move to place the case in the federal government's hands.

Bornemann was arrested last Friday following a series of raids in this town village when the automobile in which he was taking a prisoner out of town was alleged to have injured a pedestrian.

TRUCKLOAD OF SEIZED DOGS FOR DESTRUCTION

A Mr. Department of Justice truck took a load of wet dogs, the accumulation of recent seizures, from the storage room of the prohibition enforcement office in the Opera House building on Fair street this morning. They were kept, bottled and sent out of various kinds, filled with about every variety of liquid technique, which were taken to headquarters for disposal.

Sentenced To Prison

Monticello, N. Y., July 26 (AP).—Convicted of slaying Tony Rozak with a baseball bat, John Komoroff, 44, of this village, was sentenced to appear at the hearing in justice court on Friday and formally move to place the case in the federal government's hands.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

Madison, N. J.—Dr. H. L. McJunkin, 55, Madison, N. J., has been elected a Democrat and the last word. A customer selected his drugstore and said: "A Democratic landslide is coming. What about the Republicans, doctor?" McJunkin emitted a gasp, his mouth dropped and he took to his heels, leaving a disheveled man.

Topaka, Kan.—Dr. J. A. Steinmeyer, dentist, was preparing one of those "Don't hurt a bit" machines for action when a patient fidgeted. Suddenly it went on a rampage, grabbed his neck and pulled it so tight the dentist almost strangled before he could turn off the motor.

Perry, Ill.—Drowned in wine was the official verdict on Herman Ruehnolt's death. He broke a large jug of wine in his cellar. His wife found the body face down in the puddle.

Pottsville, Pa.—The pipe she loved to smoke as she rocked in her chair cost the life of Mrs. Susan Walker, 82. A spark ignited a quilt.

Coeur D'Alene, Idaho.—Bug hunting by air is the newest wrinkle in the unending fight between man and insects. Foresters are trying out an airplane equipped with traps to catch the destructive mountain pine beetles. The craft cruises over forests, imprisoning the insects on the rummy surface of the trap.

Plymouth, Vt.—John Coolidge, son of Calvin Coolidge, is resourceful. Arriving at the family homestead with his wife, he found no bed to sleep on. So he got two saw horses, laid a couple of boards atop them, plus a spring, mattress and sheets, and found repose.

Greensburg, Pa.—Bonus marching is dusty business. One hundred men, women and children, stopping here on their way by auto from Los Angeles to Washington, appealed through loud speakers, not for food, but for soap.

CLINTONDALE

Clintondale, July 19.—The Juvenile League of Clintondale held a very successful picnic on Pine Mountain on Saturday. Lunch, consisting of potato salad, sandwiches, cake, pickles and orangeade, were served. The party returned home about 4 p. m.

Miss Hilda Coumont and Robert Upright of Highland spent Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. John Schoonmaker.

Miss Irene Siskler and Lewis Siskler entertained her sister and family. Mrs. Elsie Leight and children of Monroe, and her nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hyatt and daughter of Maybrook, N. Y., for a few days.

The Rev. Edwards of Monroe spent Saturday here.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sutton and son Marshall, and Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Jenkins spent the week-end at Harvard, Delaware county, and Asbury Park, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ronk and family have moved into part of the De Sommes House.

Mrs. Emma Terwilliger is spending some time in Newburgh caring for her sister, who is ill.

Russell Minard spent Friday evening in Modena.

It is expected that current pickers will finish the season's work on Wednesday of this week.

Albert Terwilliger is improving the looks of his property by making a rock garden on the hill on the side of his house.

Two vagrants were picked up by a deputy sheriff on Friday evening on complaint of several women around the neighborhood who were afraid of them after they had begged for food. They were brought before Justice of the Peace Carr who ordered them out of town and they were told not to return.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Wager and son Harold, spent Sunday at the Ashokan reservoir fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ellis of Newburgh are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a daughter on Sunday morning. Both young persons are well known here. This is their second daughter.

The Sunday school classes of Mrs. Joseph Pampinelli and Miss Ruth Williamson, of the Methodist Church, will hold a Sunday school picnic on Pine Mountain on Tuesday afternoon. Each are requested to bring ten cents and a glass to drink out of. The children are all eagerly looking forward to it.

ADOLF HITLER: GERMANY'S QUESTION MARK

No. 3—His Anti-Jewish Drive

This is the last of three articles on Adolf Hitler. It relates why a goodly section of German citizenry fears his possible accession to power.

By LOUIS F. LOCHNER

Berlin (AP).—Of Germany's 62,000,000 inhabitants there is one element, comprising at least 2,000,000, which seems doomed to a period of social ostracism, and treatment as second class citizens if the July 31 elections give Hitler's Nazis control of Germany. That element is the Jews.

Anti-Semitism is a cardinal doctrine in the creed of Adolf Hitler. "Juda verrecke" ("Perish the Jews") is as much of a slogan for wearers of the brown shirt as is "Down with capitalism!" for communists.

On every Nazi book stand one finds a pamphlet of 160 pages titled, "Adolf Hitler's Speeches." It begins with his platform utterances in 1922, a year before he attempted his "beer cellar putsch" at Munich.

One of his first public addresses was delivered while a world economic conference was meeting at Genoa in April, 1922. Speaking at Munich, Hitler warned that "democracy is in principle not German, but Jewish." He also claimed that "the Jews incited the broad masses of the German people into the 'November insanity'" (meaning the overthrow of the Hohenzollerns in November, 1918).

A few months later Walter Rathenau, Germany's Jewish foreign minister, was assassinated and Hitler said the murder was due solely to the fact that the Jews were undeservedly given positions of prominence.

On April 13, 1923, a whole speech was devoted to the thesis that "the Jew and the world's stock exchanges were responsible for the world war." More recently Hitler has been more moderate in his language. In private talks he even states that "decent Jews" have nothing to fear. In practice, however, the anti-Semitism continues with Nazi pressure exerted in all directions. Even the Von Papen cabinet, close though it is to the Nazis, was severely criticized when it appointed a man of Jewish antecedents as chief of the government press department, and a half-Jew as under-secretary of finance.

The most recent example was furnished on June 24, when the Hitlerites introduced a bill in the Prussian diet demanding the possessions of all east European Jews who have emigrated since August 1, 1914.

He was confided on the ground that Jews belong to "a race which does not work productively, but merely grasps."

Another motion demanded the fiery denunciation, especially of the Jews, is Adolf Hitler's chief stock in trade, but he can take an opposite track. Here he is shown campaigning for the July 31 elections, fragrant roses in his hands as he gives a paternal greeting to a toddler decked out in full Nazi regalia.

compilation of a list of all Jews employed in Prussian state operas and state theaters. The intention was obvious—to oust all Jewish artists.

A German movie concern has dropped its Jewish stars because it fears that films in which they appear may call forth interruptions by the Nazis.

Thus, although Hitler himself is not as rabidly anti-Semitic as he is used to be, the half million Germans who still cling to the Jewish faith, and untold Christians with Jewish antecedents, are viewing the growth of his party with genuine alarm.

Four Big Powers Meet To Abolish Guns

Geneva, July 20 (AP).—The big four powers of the world disarmament conference, the United States, France, Great Britain and Italy, met today in another attempt to reach the deadlock on the question of prohibition of heavy mobile artillery which has prevented the adoption of a resolution to adjourn.

The United States delegation was holding out for total abolition of these weapons.

The adjournment resolution, without any provision for this last obstacle, was published and will be submitted late this afternoon to the general commission of disarmament.

As drawn by Sir John Simon and Premier Benes of Czechoslovakia, and approved by the delegations of the four powers, the declaration has five divisions:

The first asserts that the conference decides, "Guided by the general principles underlying President Hoover's disarmament declaration, (A) That a substantial reduction in world armaments shall be effected, to be applied by a general convention, (B) That the primary objective shall be to reduce means of attack."

Division two lists the points on which the conference, in concluding its first phase, notes an agreement. These are: Prohibition of air attacks against civilian populations; abolition of all aerial bombardment, subject to certain reservations, which include regulation of civil aircraft with full publicity; limitation of maximum tonnage of tanks and prohibition of chemical, bacteriological and incendiary warfare.

Third division, stipulating that the conference bureau shall continue work during the adjournment, prepares for the second phase of the conference.

A fourth division reads: "The present resolution in no way prejudices the attitude of the conference toward any more comprehensive measures of disarmament, or toward political proposals submitted by the various delegations."

This keeps alive the issue of the German equality in the right to arm and the French demand for security. A final division recommends that the governments renew for four months the present armaments truce.

Committed Suicide.
Troy, N. Y., July 20 (AP).—Knotting a bed sheet around his neck, Samuel S. Loewus (1710 Andrews avenue), New York city, a fur salesman, committed suicide in a hotel room here today. Three one dollar bills and a note asking his wife be notified were found in his pocket.

Beauty Prizes Displayed.
The silver loving cup and title cash to be awarded to Miss Ulster County in the bathing beauty contest at DeWitt Lake Sunday are on display in the window of the Oppenheimer jewelry store, Broadway, above the West Shore.

Bolivia-Paraguay Boundary Dispute

La Paz, Bolivia, July 20 (AP).—The ancient boundary dispute between Bolivia and Paraguay was at a point today where Bolivians crowded the streets and shouted for war.

The demonstration followed news that 300 Paraguayan troops attacked Fort Mariscal, Santa Cruz, in the border area, Saturday and that the fighting was continuing. Two soldiers, presumably Bolivians, were reported killed.

A crowd estimated to number 10,000 gathered in the square before the presidential palace after the announcement was made, shouting against "Paraguayan aggression" and demanding war.

President Daniel Salamanca told them Bolivians would know how to act against an aggressor. He ended his address by urging them to be ready to serve their country if needed.

The cabinet was called to discuss the situation.

For fifty years the quarrel between Paraguay and Bolivia over the Gran Chaco region has dragged on. The region lies between the rivers Paraguay and Pilcomayo and is a wild jungle, but is considered to have rich possibilities.

Several times during the half century the two countries have been on verge of war. Diplomatic relations were broken in 1928 and not fully resumed until May, 1930.

AUTHORIZE MORTGAGE ON NEW GRANGE HALL.

Orders authorizing Highland Grange, No. 888, r. of H., to negotiate mortgages on the newly erected grange hall have been signed by Supreme Court Judge John T. Loughran. Application was made to the court by A. D. & A. W. Lent, attorneys for petitioner, for authorization to place two mortgages on the property to finance the organization which recently completed a new grange hall in the town of Lloyd.

Permission was sought to secure one mortgage amounting to $2,800 and one of $4,000. The value of the property is given at $10,000. The mortgage in the sum of $2,800, due in three years, is to G. W. Pratt & Son of Highland and the $4,000 mortgage is to the Highland Savings and Loan Association.

Plattekill Grange Notes.
Invitations have been issued for the regular social dance to be held at the Grange Hall on Friday evening, July 22. The Rainbow Orchestra will entertain.

On Saturday evening the regular meeting of the Grange will be held. A committee from Wawarsing Grange in charge of Miss Hulda Joyce, lecturer, will present the program. In exchange, a committee from the local Grange will present a program at some future date at Wawarsing Grange. Hosts and hostesses of the evening will be: Mr. and Mrs. Leander Minard, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Minard, Mrs. Laura Minard, Mae Minard, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. George Gleitsman, Mildred and Delta Dutler.

Western Farmers Have Market Plan

Tolna, N. D., July 20 (AP).—Across the fertile prairies of North Dakota, expected to produce one-sixth of the nation's wheat output this year, today is heard a crescendo chorus—"Hold the grain for one dollar a bushel."

And if sponsors are successful, the cry will be taken up throughout the United States.

Dell Willis, Tolna farmer, is chairman of the organization which has stirred the farmers in more than 400 North Dakota townships to pledge holding their wheat, effective August 1, unless and until the dollar level is reached.

Organizations are perfected along township lines. As producers sign an agreement, it is deposited with the township board. Certain farmers are designated to see the pledge is adhered to.

"We will hold our wheat until there is a demand for it at the set price of one dollar per bushel, and then we will sell only ten per cent in one month," Willis continued. "This will make an orderly marketing system."

He said the plan, launched here less than a week ago, has been enthusiastically received.

Louis Maurer, Old Artist, Dead at 100

New York, July 20 (AP).—Louis Maurer, who got $12 a week for creating sporting prints that made collectors scramble, is dead at the age of 100.

The "Oldest American Artist" and the last surviving member of Currier and Ives, "Printmakers to the American People," died yesterday in his old brownstone house on West 43rd street.

He did the famous series of prints on the "Life of a Fireman" and his pictures were credited with immortalizing famous American trotting horses. He lived to see great historical value on reproductions of his work for Currier and Ives which once sold for 25 and 50 cents.

Some of his own reproductions brought $700 each, notably the portrait of the famous race horse Lexington.

He looked a shade like Buffalo Bill, his close friend, and was active to the last.

BUSY SANDBLASTING WALLS OF PUBLIC SCHOOL NO. 2

Work of sandblasting the outer walls of Public School No. 2 on West Chestnut street is proceeding and it is expected that the work will be completed before the end of this month. The school is built of red brick. Some time ago the brick were given a coating of yellow paint, which in the course of years had become badly soiled and chipped. By sandblasting the paint is removed, leaving the walls of the school the original brick color.

Three Members of Bonus Army Arrested

Washington, July 20 (AP).—John Pace, leader of a radical group within the bonus army, and two of his followers were arrested today after a brush with police at 15th and D streets.

The radicals, closely surrounded by police, had been walking down 15th street. At D street they attempted to turn toward the White House. Police promptly turned them back.

There was a scuffle, police clubs were brandished in the air, and Pace and his companions were taken into custody. Lacking a patrol wagon at the moment, two of them were put in a police touring car and the third was held until the patrol could arrive.

LOCAL BREEDER JOINS HOLSTEIN ASSOCIATION

Canyon Lakes Farm, Accord, N. Y., is one of 32 new breeders of purebred Holstein-Friesian cattle to be added during June 1932 to the list of more than 32,000 members of record in The Holstein-Friesian Association of America. This is five times the total membership of the other four dairy breeds combined.

Membership in The Holstein-Friesian Association entitles breeders of purebred black-and-white cattle to register or transfer their animals at half the rates necessary for non-members in spite of the fact that the charges for registry and transfer are generally lower than those of any other dairy breed. The records of registration and transfer of ownership are an aid to the guaranty of the animals recorded and help the owner or purchaser to build up his herd along lines of proven breeding. This has resulted in the rapid expansion of the Holstein breed from a total registration of 1,000,000 heads in 1921 to 2,150,000 head now.

Egg Long Used as Food.
Eggs have been used for food since the dawn of history and nobody knows who first ate them. The oldest mention of eggs as food is probably found in the book of Job, the most ancient of the Scriptural books. In Job 6:6 it says, "Is there any taste in the white of an egg?"

Trucks and Verse.
A poetess says she never wrote a verse in her life until after she had been run over by a truck. This ought to convince everybody that trucks are a menace and need stringent regulation.—Nashville Banner.

Under Contestants Continue Events

Albany, N. Y., July 29 (AP).—Pilots competing in the national glider contest polished their delicate craft on the mountain takeoff fields surrounding this city today, awaiting the air currents that would enable them to achieve their so-far victorious results on altitude and distance records.

Despite the apparent hopelessness of a successful flight, Jack O'Meara of New York took off late yesterday with the first vestige of a breeze to sustain Elmirans with a flight over the city in his sailplane. The flight proved out to be an apparently successful attempt to lower the national altitude record of 3,304 feet.

Soaring back and forth over the business and residential sections at night, his altimeter recorded as high as 5,000 feet. O'Meara kept his graceful craft in the air for more than an hour, finally landing at the airport, five miles from his takeoff. Official confirmation of the new record awaited calibration of his altimeter.

The winds on which the motorless craft are utterly dependent have blown thus far in O'Meara's favor. Several days ago he won, lost and then won again the distance title, breaking the national record with a 75 mile flight.

For the first time yesterday aerial photographs were taken from a glider, a two seater piloted by J. T. Funk, who kept the craft above the city while Dr. Frank Gross of Akron, O., snapped the pictures.

Several entrants arrived yesterday to take part in the events scheduled for the closing days of the meet, which ends Sunday.

Fashions by Eleanor Gunn

Fabrics Persist in Roughing It

New York. When it comes to mixing cottons, your modern young thing is a master of the art. Here's a cotton frock jacketed with a cotton of quite another color and what she wears is a masterpiece of artistry. One must have a good eye to be able to detect the difference of current fashion in such a surprise.

New fashions have all had time to be well established, there is very little advance in the art of it. What comes are more and more toward possibly surfaces, setting us accustomed to the present surfaces presented for fall.

Spokane of fall reminds me to speak again of the growing interest in autumn and early shades, in dark and glowing reds, and in vivid violet or burnt purple. This range, though already mentioned several times in these columns, bears further mention, since no Paris report comes through without some confirmation of the earlier predictions about these colors. The Grand Prix seemed definitely to establish them as the coming favorites for fall.

All manner of upsets may occur before autumn arrives, but there are certain fashion trends on which one may safely bank—the aforementioned colors, for instance, and also the substitution of capelets for jackets, particularly for evening. Reports of the latter trend come not only from Paris but from London as well, and wherever one goes hereabouts, there are capelets galore. Such capes as are now worn are young and graceful, whether in sheer wisplike fabrics or in crisp taffeta or organdy. The latter materials lend themselves to side, knife and box pleatings and are often handled in this manner. Organdy, of course, is used to fringe some capelets, for organdy, at the moment is being acclaimed after an absence of many years.

Jewelry naturally enough reflects the fashionable shades—hence, rubies are talked of as the gems to be worn with both reds and purples. Diamonds and pearls are never out of fashion and, while these are still usually platinum mounted, gold jewelry is wanted more and more.

White Leads at Cannes, Followed by "White-And"

Cannes—Colors for fashionable costumes give first place to white. In third place is red; in fourth, navy which is followed by white combined with navy or royal blue or in the tri-color harmony of red, white and blue, stripes being used both horizontally and diagonally.

COTTONS SHARE A TAFFETA BOW

Copyright, 1932, by Fairchild

The jacket of this model is of cotton tweed combining several colors. The dress is a sheer monotone cotton in homespun effect. Taffeta is introduced for the bow, in dark blue to match the belt buckle and one color in the tweed.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Pretty Morning Frock.

7569. Printed linen with organdy for contrast, was used for this dainty model. The long waist portions join the skirt in pointed outline on the front. Plaits in box style, lend pleasing fullness to the skirt. A vestee with notched collar outlines the deep V of the waist front. The sleeves are short and finished with an upturned cuff. A narrow belt holds the fulness of the dress at the waistline. Percale and other cotton prints, seersucker, flannel and linen are suggested for this style.

Designed in 6 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. Size 38 will require 4 1/2 yards of 32 inch material if made in monotone. If made as in the large view it will require 3 1/2 yards of printed material and 1/2 yard of plain material 35 inches wide, also 5 1/2 yards of piping or bias binding. The width of the dress at the lower edge with fulness extended is 2 yards.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 1c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Recalls Brodhead Train Wreck of 1907

West Shore, July 19.—More than a quarter of a century ago, during the afternoon of Wednesday, June 12, 1907, there occurred the never-to-be forgotten train wreck at Brodhead Bridge. While the south-bound freight was standing at the station the rear end proceeded by the flagman, who is said to have carelessly walked in without orders, a heavy coal train came sweeping around the long curve of a down grade and plunged into the string of cars, breaking them up as if they were cracker boxes.

Engineer Bob Silkworth, who stuck to his post at the throttle of the coal train, and his fireman, were thrown clear of the wreckage into the field. Both escaped serious injury. They were taken to Kingston for treatment at the hospital.

The flagman, evidently thinking that someone might have lost his life due to his rash judgment, is said to have walked to Kingston, boarded a train for Albany and later showed up in Onondaga where he was apprehended by authorities, who informed him that fortunately no one was injured.

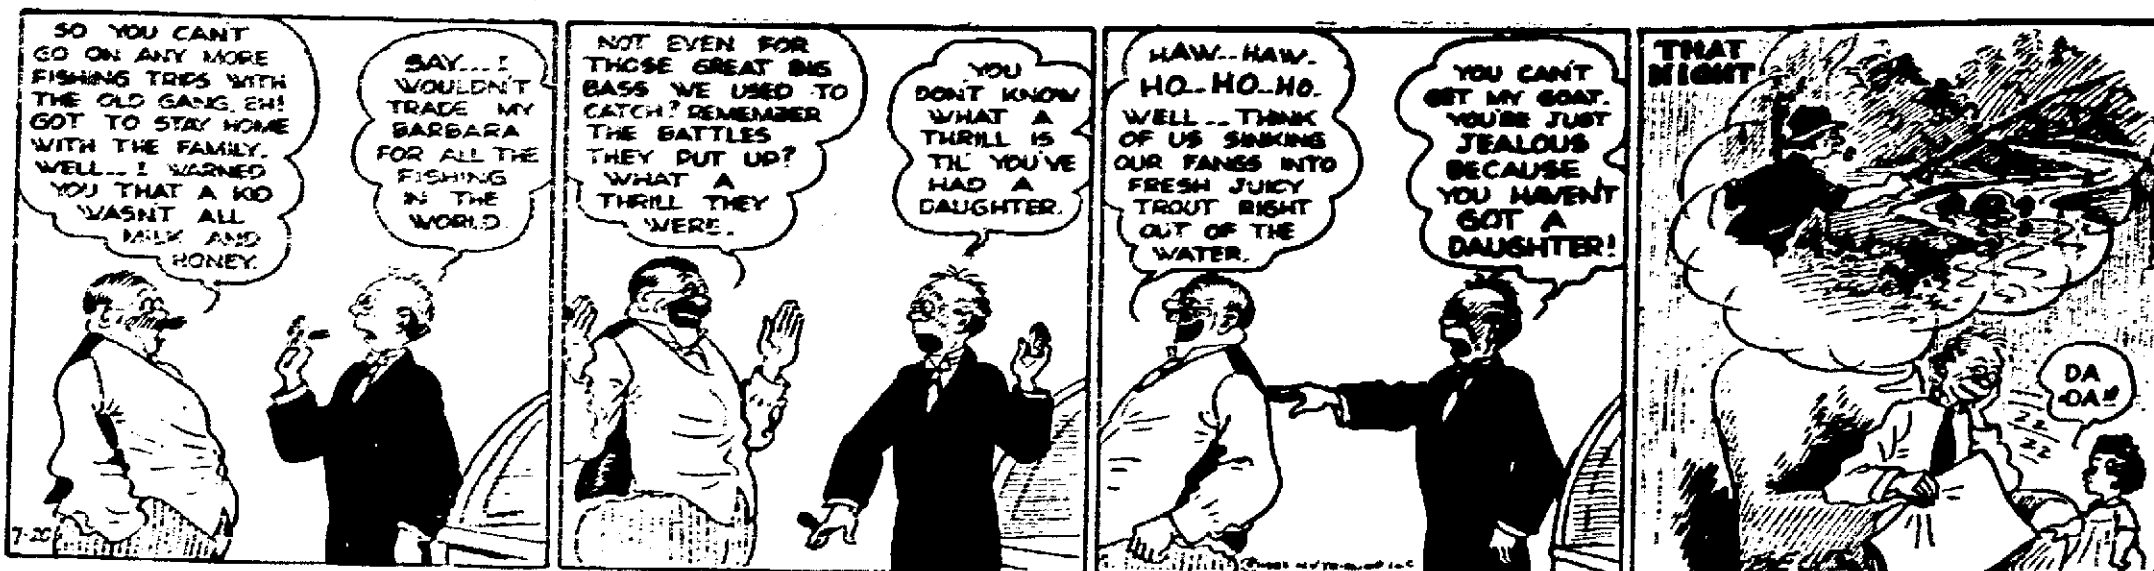

As the wreck blocked traffic, passengers from the evening southbound train were transferred to another train waiting at the bridge. Numerous spectators watched workmen clear the tracks and repair the roadbed, work which was done throughout the night under the glare of powerful flood-lights. Relief crews were called from all points between Arville and Rondout. It is said that the laborers rapidly worked clearing up the debris, expecting to find the body of the missing flagman. Because of their dispatch in clearing the tracks, the Buffalo Hill circus train was able to pass to Kingston on schedule.

Engineer Bob Silkworth, with a record to be proud of is still handling a throttle, despite the narrow escape he had on the occasion of the Brodhead wreck and several others caused by mistakes of fellow railroaders. The engine that he drove on the day of the wreck, No. 29, is still in commission. Mr. Silkworth is a native of Olive.

Virgil Merrihew, agent at Brodhead station when the mishap occurred, is still railroading, too, doing

OFFICE CAT

You can't make yourself happy, but any fool can avoid the things that make him unhappy.

Sunday School Teacher—And when the prodigal son returned, what happened, Tommy?

Tommy—His father ran to meet him and hurt himself severely.

Sunday School Teacher—Where-ever did you get that impression?

Tommy—It says so right in the Bible—that his father ran to meet him and fell on his neck.

Another reason why there used to be fewer divorces is because a woman didn't think in the old days that her husband was a dismal failure if he didn't have a barn and a couple of the carriage horses in it.

Auntie—Do you ever play with bad little boys, Willie?

Willie—Yes, Auntie.

Auntie—Why, Willie? Why don't you play with good little boys?

Willie—Their mothers won't let them.

Nothing makes a woman so mad, as a certain lady testifies, as to have her husband pick up his napkin before company and ask jovially: "Now what's this for?"

First Hobo—I feel just like a naughty happer today.

Second Hobo—How come, Willie?

First Hobo—A brakeman made me walk home from a ride last night.

In some parts of the world it is the custom for the men to present his girl with a beautiful sash as an engagement token. But, of course, this is not the only thing he puts around her waist.

Teacher—Can you name some organ of the body, Tommy?

Tommy—Yes'm, the teeth.

Teacher—The teeth! What kind of an organ would that be?

Tommy—I guess they would be a kind of grind organ.

Bobbied hair... A cigarette... and knickers make a lot of difference...
...But they don't fool... A mouse.

There was great excitement aboard
the ocean liner.

Sailor (in loud voice)—Man overboard!

Mrs. De Snobbe (indignantly)—
Gentleman overboard, if you please.
That's my husband.

Persons can get along without the necessities of life in times like these;
giving up the luxuries is what hurts.

Millionaire Octogenarian—Will you marry me if I have my health rejuvenated?

Pretty Gold Digger—I'll marry you, all right, but you leave your health the way it is.

Brothers All

There is a destiny that makes us brothers.

No one can go the way alone;
That which we send into the lives of others

Always comes back into our own.

Her Papa—Don't you think for a minute you're going to marry my girl.

Her Caller—Fine—you get me out of this mess with your daughter and
I'm your friend for life.

If divorcees get much easier the quickest way to get rid of a man will be to marry him.

The Boss—Ann what have you been doing all this time, Miss Montgomery?

New Typist—Typing the letter you dictated, sir.

The Boss—Really? I thought you might have been working it up in embroidery or something.

'Super-Human' Instruments To Probe Secrets Of Earth During Polar Year Research

By F. B. COLTON

(Associated Press Science Writer)

Washington (AP) — Instruments more sensitive, more accurate and more enduring than their human operators will unlock secrets of the earth's magnetism during the coming International Polar Year.

Dedicated needles, giant loops of wire spread over the ground, and powerful radio waves shot into outer space will record automatically new facts about the strange electric currents that play through and around the earth—which is itself a gigantic magnet.

30 Nations To Take Part

They will make continuous records all over the world from August, 1932, to August, 1933, giving scientists for the first time an unbroken picture of nature's electrical behavior at 79 different places on the earth's surface during an entire year. Thirty or more nations will take part in the research.

One machine, poking a continuous radio wave into the sky, will record ever-changing heights of the Kennelly-Heaviside layer, the hollow "blanket" of electrically-charged air that "reflects" radio waves and regulates the quality of radio reception the world over.

Another, the declinometer, is a compass that records each day all the different directions in which it points. Although the compass always points more or less due north, its actual direction is constantly changing because of the variations in the mysterious magnetic forces that attract it northward. Scientists want to know more about how and why these forces vary.

A third electrical "sleuth" will shadow the invisible but powerful magnetic force that constantly hovers around the earth, and will note how it varies in strength at different points from hour to hour and from day to day.

Facts Sought Are Important

A fourth device will seek to discover if there is a secret understanding between the magnetism of the earth and the variations in radiation from the sun. Better knowledge of the earth's magnetism is highly important in radio, telegraph and telephone work.

One instrument, the dip circle, through which the operator has to look as through a surveying instrument, has celluloid eye-pieces to prevent the user's eyebrows and eyelashes from touching the metal parts and freezing to them. Most of the instruments work automatically, however, marking their records on revolving drums of paper or on strips of tape like a stock ticker.

In Arctic regions where mercury is likely to freeze, thermometers will use alcohol instead, a fluid more resistant to cold.

Roosevelt to Make Recommendations

Albany, N. Y., July 20 (AP)—Having promised to make "some very substantial recommendations" for economy in New York state's government, Governor Roosevelt again divided his attention today between state and national fronts.

From the national political field, in which he figures as the Democratic presidential nominee, Mr. Roosevelt heard a report that Governor Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts, who has been one of the big question marks in the Democratic ranks, would have "something to say" before the end of the week.

Governor Ely's promise drew the interest of the Roosevelt supporters since the Massachusetts leader has not yet said how far he will go in supporting his party's national ticket. Ely was defeated by the Roosevelt forces when he nominated Alfred E. Smith at Chicago.

Meanwhile the Governor's political lieutenants, James A. Farley, national chairman, and Louis M. Howe, political secretary to Mr. Roosevelt, went forward with their national campaign program along lines laid down at a luncheon conference with the nominee yesterday.

Rapidly shaping up their plans, the three conferees decided to swing into the campaign gradually, and increase pressure through the summer until the fall sees the Governor swinging across the country in the big trips with which he expects to wind up his fight.

Details call for the speaking trips to start shortly after August 1. Another decision was to continue to conduct the campaign from New York.

In the state role today the governor will bear a plea from organized labor for a more generous reparation by the commonwealth for relief funds spent by municipalities.

At present the state refunds 40 percent of such expenditures. The mayor will ask Mr. Roosevelt for a 50 percent refund.

Today's conference, dealing as it does with state finances, will be along the general lines of Mr. Roosevelt's meeting yesterday with representatives of business and tax-paying organizations.

In three hours of talk, the governor and the visiting representatives worked out plans for a "central committee" of fifteen to examine the fiscal side of state government. The committee will act as a clearing house for economy suggestions each as the governor received wholesale yesterday.

To most of these the governor has consistently replied that general suggestions will not do. Specific economies must be mentioned, he has insisted.

One of yesterday's suggestions was that the state's annual expenditure of $103,000,000 for education might be cut. Roland B. Woodward of Rochester, a state regent, recommended a reduction if it could be done "without doing any real harm to education."

As the conference adjourned, the governor resumed the representatives of his state economy views: "Don't worry, I'm going to make some very substantial recommendations this before I go out of office," he said.

"Apron Strings" at Maverick Theatre

Give a young man a devoted mother who seeks to be his guide and inspiration throughout her life and then wills him a truck load of letters of advice to govern his conduct when she has passed on and you are quite certain to have a young man with a lot of trouble piled up in his way especially when he leads to the altar a beautiful, modern and sophisticated young woman.

Such is the laughable plot of "Apron Strings" the Dorrance Davis comedy which will be offered by the Maverick Players at the Maverick Theatre, Woodstock on Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings of this week. "Apron Strings" was originally produced at the Bijou Theatre, New York and had a long and successful run with Jefferson De Anckels in the leading comedy role.

For the Maverick presentation Manager William J. Rathbun has engaged Farrell Kelly for the De Anckels role. Mr. Kelly is a Woodstock resident and his last stage appearance there was in support of the late Charles Gilpin in "Empire Jones." Miss Emma De Weale, who played a prominent character role in support of Miss Cecilia Loftus in "When Doctors Disagree" three weeks ago, returns to assume a juicy character role in "Apron Strings." Other Woodstock favorites in the cast are George MacQuarrie, William Post, Jr., Catherine Proctor, Dortha Duckworth, and Irene Shirley.

Friday of each week, which is "Kingsport Night" at the Maverick is growing in favor and each week a large crowd of Kingstonians attend the performances. The management provides free bus transportation from Kingston and return on that evening the bus leaving from the Governor Clinton Hotel at eight o'clock and returning immediately after the performance.

Walkikill, July 19.—Mrs. Lester Terwilliger and family and Mrs. Fred Butler and family are spending some time at Lake Erie, N. J.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Episcopal Church, American Legion, of Walkikill held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Edward Brown. A goodly attendance was present and delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

Many friends of Mrs. J. B. Churchill are glad to hear of her improvement from a recent operation performed at Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sermour are entertaining Stanley Dullis of Kentucky for a few days.

On Saturday a test call was sounded on the fire alarm in order to make adjustments. The Walkikill fire department reported everything in perfect order.

Block Party

A block party, sponsored by the Men's Club of the Franklin Street A. M. E. Zion Church, will be held tonight and tomorrow night on South Pine street. There will be ample parking space for everyone attending the party, and refreshments will be served during the evening. The committee in charge of arrangements includes Arthur S. Jackson, chairman; James Ray, secretary; and Doris Dabney, treasurer.

One Killed In Fight For Jobs On Dam

Marshall, Ill., July 20 (AP)—A battle for jobs with guns and fists in which one man was killed and more than a score were wounded, resulted in a heavy guard today over the government dam under construction here.

The half hour of sharp fighting yesterday began when unemployed Illinois union members entered Marshall, to protest employment of out-of-state non-union laborers on the state waterway project.

Steve Sutton of Joliet, Ill., a leader of the unionists, was fatally shot and others held Dwight Wallace of New Orleans, La., as his assailant. The battle broke when workers with barbed wire barricade to resist their superintendant, Herbert W. Miller, from a hearing at the hands of the invaders.

Representatives of the law with 125 alleged participants in the rioting in jail at Ottawa, feared more trouble.

Scientific tests upset claims of rival brands.

Give verdict to Old Gold, as coolest, throat-easiest cigarette.

CLUB WOMEN INTERESTED IN CIGARETTE PURITY WITNESS OLD GOLD SCIENTIFIC VICTORY
Mrs. Oliver C. Harriman, Mrs. Julian Gerard, and Mrs. William Shaw III, keen spectators of the Calorimeter test showing the greater coolness of OLD GOLD, in comparison with 3 other leading brands.

PROOF! . . . that's what you want in a cigarette advertisement. You can't smoke claims. You're entitled to evidence.

But do you get it . . . when an ad simply says: "My cigarette is better?"

OLD GOLD doesn't expect to win you by unsupported adjectives alone. But it does ask you to consider the findings of a great testing laboratory . . . as checked by scientists of two leading universities . . . then draw your own conclusions!

These laboratories made a "cool" test of 4 leading cigarette brands . . . and accurate, impartial scientific test. They repeated it 75 times. And consistently, the smoke of an OLD GOLD was shown to be the coolest, and hence the throat-easiest.

Coolness is the clue to quality in a cigarette. Only the finest, smoothest, purest tobacco burns "cool." Only PURE tobacco burns cool. In establishing itself as the coolest smoke, OLD GOLD proves itself the cigarette of purest and choicest tobacco quality; utterly free of hot-burning artificial flavorings.

NOT A COUGH IN A CARLOAD

The Verdict of Science

This is to certify that in 75 repeated cool tests made of the 4 leading cigarette brands . . . measuring the heat content of each cigarette in B.T.U.s. with the Oxygen Bomb Calorimeter, it was shown that:

Old Gold averages 112 B.T.U.s. Cooler than Brand X
Old Gold averages 155 B.T.U.s. Cooler than Brand Y
Old Gold averages 156 B.T.U.s. Cooler than Brand Z

The thermometer test (Fahrenheit) showed Old Gold smoke definitely cooler than that of the other brands.

Railroaders Outscore Lumbermen 17-10 In City League Contest

The West Shore Railroaders were favored at the Athletic Field Tuesday night and indeed they were, for they won the contest by a score of 17-10. The victory marked the second win for the Railroaders over the Lumbermen and practically completed their season, as they now lead the City League standings.

A game of this variety was to be expected as for the last six weeks the margin of victory has been but one or two runs, and though the score was large there was plenty of action and the fans stayed until the end.

From the first ball pitched, when Ralph Williams poked for a double, the Railroaders scored runs, registering at least three in each inning. And they showed no respect for any kind of pitching, treating three pitchers alike.

Hornbeck was the first pitcher to be assaulted. He staggered through the first frame, but failed to finish the second. Wilson replaced him and stayed around until the fourth when he retired in favor of North, who finished.

Tommy Lewis went the route for the Railroaders. He was wild at times, which, coupled with six hits and weird play by his teammates, accounted for the 10 markers chalked against him. But he always had a big lead and had nothing to worry about at any time.

Both teams scored four runs in the first inning. Williams led the Railroaders with his double and Hoffman walked. Knight bunted and Williams scored when the third baseman let the pitcher's throw get away from him. Lay also doubled and Hoffman and Knight registered. Lay scored on an infield out.

Successful singles by Peterson and Tiano, a walk to Slover and a double steal gave the Lumbermen their first run. Fraleigh's single scored two more and a fly to the outfield sent the fourth one home.

Singles by Van Buren, Williams, Hoffman and Lay, a walk to Knight and Morgan's two-bagger added five more runs to the Railroaders' total in the second. They added three more in the third, three in the fourth and two in the fifth.

The Lumbermen's other runs came in the fourth and fifth innings, when they got four and two respectively.

Tagging Major League Bases

(By The Associated Press.)

Having made what many predicted was his valedictory as an active player, Rogers Hornsby, manager of the Chicago Cubs and one of the greatest infielders of all time, has turned over the job of winning the National League flag to his youngsters.

The Rajah, dissatisfied with Stanley Hack's play at third base after Bill Jurges was laid up with gunshot wounds, stepped in to plug the hole, but after listening to the Chicago fans for five days decided to return to the cooling confines of the dugout.

In the last four games he played, the once peerless batsman collected only two hits, and his fielding was a thing of the past. He made two errors Monday and failed to handle several other chances properly. On the bench beside him sits the mighty Burt Grimes, waiting to do an occasional job of relief pitching.

With the youthful Hack back in the lineup yesterday and the batting order juggled, the Cubs defeated the Giants, 5 to 4, and gained a half game on the leading Pittsburgh Pirates, who split even with the Phillies. That left the Chicagoans only two games behind.

Although he fumbled one chance, Hack redeemed himself by making two hits and scoring twice, including the winning run in the last of the ninth. Kiki Cuyler drew him across with the clincher after the Giants had tied the count in their half. Bill Swift pitched the Pirates to a 5 to 2 victory in their first bout with the Phils, his seventh straight, but the eastern delegates came back to take the nightcap, 6 to 5, in 11 innings.

Ed Brandt was in top form and the Boston Braves knocked Cincinnati a little deeper into the cellar, 2 to 0. Red Lucas allowed the Braves only seven hits, but they came in clusters.

The St. Louis Cardinals, after being held to one hit for five innings, drove Dazzy Vance from the box in the seventh and defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers, 5 to 3.

Playing without the injured Babe Ruth, the Yankees took their fourth straight from the Chicago Sox, 6 to 3, with Lefty Gomez hanging up his 16th victory. The Washington Senators celebrated "Sam Rice Day" by dropping their third in a row to Detroit, 3 to 2.

Wes Ferrell yielded only four scattered hits as the Cleveland Indians blanked Boston, 7 to 9. Ferrell thus came into his 17th victory, which is tops for both leagues. The Philadelphia Athletics slugged out two decisions over St. Louis, 9 to 8 and 16 to 6. The Browns have lost ten straight.

(By The Associated Press.)

Roger Cramer, Athletics—Made eight hits and scored six runs in double victory over St. Louis.
Wes Ferrell, Indians—Blanked the Boston Red Sox with four hits.
Ray Hayworth, Tigers—Drove in two runs and scored another to beat Washington, 3 to 2.
Ed Brandt, Braves—Shut out Cincinnati, 2 to 0.

Phil Collins, Phils—Tripled in 11th inning to win his own game from the Pirates, 6 to 5.
Kiki Cuyler, Cubs—Drove across three runs to subdue the Giants, 5 to 4.

SPORT SLANTS

By Alan J. Gould
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

It's a tricky, often frustrating business, this job of getting together an American Olympic team, holding trouts, collecting funds and assembling the forces for action on scattered fronts.

For example, it would seem a simple matter to get down the name of Hans Oida, Buffalo blacksmith, as an American marathon entry, after he won an official tryout at Baltimore in good time and demonstrated his ability beyond dispute.

But some one raises the question of Oida's citizenship. It seems he was born in Germany. So the American Olympic committee must dig into the records, communicate with the courts and quiz the athlete himself to settle the fact that Hans is duly naturalized, sound of mind and limb, and, therefore, thoroughly eligible to compete at Los Angeles.

No one had heard much about Oida until he romped off with the Baltimore tryout. It seems he got the Olympic "bug," trained conscientiously, but was obliged to borrow $10 and accept a ride to Baltimore in a friend's automobile in order to make the U. S. team.

Oida's teammates are two veterans of national as well as Olympic competition—Jimmy Hixson of Boston and Albert (Whitey) Michelson of New York.

Warning Note

Although the cable dispatches indicated some unexpected uncertainty as to his success in making the team, Lieut. G. L. Rampling, the British quarter-miler, impressed his compatriot Harold Abrahams, 1924 100-meter Olympic champion, as a real challenger for an Olympic gold medal this year.

Abrahams wrote for the "Amateur Athlete," published by the American A. A. U.:

"In Rampling we have the finest 440 yards runner I have ever seen. He is certainly capable of about 47 seconds for 400 meters and he gives one the impression of being unbeatable. If he is in the pink of condition I make no bold as to predict that he will win the 400 meters."

As to this, Lieut. Rampling will not find out Mr. Carr and Mr. Eastman willing to concede anything in advance.

Dark Horse

"We have also quite a phenomenal runner in J. A. Burns, who will find 5,000 meters almost his ideal distance," adds Mr. Abrahams. "He has already run three miles this year in 14 minutes, 22 seconds and is the best three-miler we have had since Alfred Shrub."

The point of objection may be raised here that a young Finn, Lauri Lehtinen, has beaten 14 minutes for three miles in recent weeks, at the same time he was lowering Nurmi's world record for 5,000 meters (3 miles, 188 yards) to the startling time of 14 minutes, 11.2 seconds.

Three Brilliant Sprinters to Run For United States

Ralph Metcalfe, Eddie Tolan and George Simpson Considered Best Since Scholz and Paddock—All Strong Favourites.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Los Angeles, July 19 (AP).—The American midlands, which produced the last American Olympic sprint victor eight years ago in Jackson Scholz of Missouri, has come forward with a trio of brilliant dash men for the fight to regain lost prestige on the international speedways.

Lawson Robertson, the American head coach, regards Ralph Metcalfe, Eddie Tolan and George Simpson as the best and most consistent sprinting combination the United States has had for the Olympics since Scholz and Charley Paddock were in their prime. Certainly it is a much stronger lineup than in 1928 when only three of more than eight reached the finals. All trailed Perry Williams of Canada.

Double Duty

Through such bitter Olympic setbacks, America has learned not to be over-confident of its sprint talent. Consistency has not been its crowning jewel. Most of the 100-meter discussion revolved around whether Frank Wykoff or Emmett Topplin would romp off with the main honors, yet these two aces failed to turn up among the first three in the final. They were clearly outraced by a trio possessing class and experience. The main question will be whether Metcalfe, Tolan and Simpson can stand the grind, inasmuch as they all must do double duty.

Metcalfe, a rangy, powerful negro youth weighing 175 pounds, is the youngest of the trio and newest to reach national championship heights but he looms as the chief American contender. It took his sensational double victory in the final 100-meter trials to convince coaches, who were somewhat skeptical of the times recorded by the big Marquette sophomore in the mid-western Olympic tryouts. Metcalfe packs a terrific final "kick." He won both the 100 and 200 by coming from behind.

Have Experience

Tolan and Simpson, although also on the team for the first time, have six years of big league competition behind them, going back to the days when they were Big Ten rivals at Michigan and Ohio State. Simpson broke down in the 1928 trials, while going great guns. His come-back is all the more remarkable because he has not had much competition in the last year or two. Tolan, meanwhile, has covered a wide field of competition. He is the official holder of the 100-yard record of 9.5 seconds besides sharing the 100-meter standard of 10.4 with Paddock. Like Metcalfe, Tolan and Simpson are strong finishers.

Williams will be at Los Angeles to defend the Olympic crown. The slim Canadian has not had much competition within the last year but the best information concerning him is that he is back in form and will be hard to beat. Hec Edmundson, University of Washington coach, under whose advice Williams has been training, believes the champion is faster now than he was four years ago.

The 100-meters, in which American coaches regard Jonat of Germany as outstanding, will be the toughest for the home forces to capture. Their chances of taking the 200 should be an odds-on bet.

McGraw Describes Two Unsurpassable Baseball Figures

Retired Giant Phil, Talking from 30 Years' Experience in London Sport. Tells of "Big Six" Christ Mathewson and Honus Wagner, the "Flying Dutchman."

By EDWARD J. NEIL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, July 20 (AP).—Wandering back over fifty years of baseball, seeing them come and go from the glamorous days of the legendary Baltimore Orioles down through the powerhouse Yankees and Athletics of the past half dozen years, John McGraw sees two unsurpassable figures—Christy Mathewson and Honus Wagner.

"Big Six" was the greatest pitcher McGraw ever hopes to see; calm, courageous, baffling in his skill and control. Honus, the "Flying Dutchman" of Pittsburgh, was the greatest all-around ball player, and the retired manager of the New York Giants says that with a full realization of the mightiness of Babe Ruth, He has said that before, but facing back over the years in the calm of the Giants' business office, miles from the Polo Grounds, his genius as a manager helped build and the ball club his own fight and brilliance made a household word in sport for thirty years. McGraw brought forth a new reason for Mathewson's greatness.

The Most Famous Curve

"Did you ever realize," he asked, as he swung back and forth contentedly in the swivel chair before his desk, "that Mathewson had all the stuff of both right and left handed pitchers?"

The idea seemed to be brand new. That fadeaway was almost the exact duplicate of a southpaw's curve. In other words, it broke in on a right handed batter, instead of away from it, as a right hand pitcher's curve normally does.

All of which called for a technical explanation of properly the most famous curve in all baseball history, an explanation adding new light to what always has been more or less of a mystery, not only to the baseball public but to the big league hitters who swung against it.

"Christy threw the fadeaway between his third and fourth fingers, twisting his wrist to the left as he let the ball roll off the fourth finger. The result was a curve he kept low, and that broke slowly toward a right hand hitter. If it had been faster it would have been what was called an 'in-shoot' when we were kids. It was the duplicate of a southpaw's slow curve. So he had the curves of both a lefthander and right hander, something no other pitcher in history ever boasted.

Pitchers Fall To Copy

"Ever since Christy passed along, pitchers have been trying to develop that curve but none has ever done it. It took the longest, most powerful fingers I ever saw on a pitcher's hand to throw that ball. No one yet has appeared with that equipment.

"A lot of experts think that the curve they call a 'sinker' today was something like Mathewson's fadeaway. There was no comparison.

Some time ago when the greatest ball player of all time was under discussion, McGraw was asked the status of Ty Cobb.

"Why Cobb," he said in surprise, "was just an outfielder."

He does not think that of Ruth, and there have been times when he even considered the Bambino the greatest of them all, but he always came back to Wagner in the end.

A Great Baseball Brain

"A shortstop," he says, "has to be in the middle of things all the time. Honus was a great distance hitter, place hitter, at his best in the pinches: I've never seen a man who could throw with him. He covered all the ground there was between second and third. He made the toughest plays look easy. He had a great baseball brain.

"What more can you ask of a ball player?"

FOUND!

A Way to Remove Red Ink!

This Simple Depression Remedy was Discovered after Examining the Earning Statements of Fifty Companies

TWENTY-FIVE of these companies believed in newspaper advertising. They kept up or increased their expenditures for newspaper space through 1931, and their earnings last year averaged within seven per cent of their 1930 figures.

Twenty-five of the companies—in corresponding trade groups—decreased their newspaper advertising last year or dropped it altogether. Their earning statements showed that they had averaged a 73% decline in profits.

No one believes that newspaper advertising will cure all the ills of the depression, but apparently it is a practical remedy that a lot of manufacturers and merchants are finding effective.

Let's be specific. The study from which the foregoing data has been taken, issued by the Bureau of Advertising under the title "They made it pay—and HOW!" shows that:

An automobile company increased newspaper advertising by 33% last year and tripled its net earnings of the year before.

A manufacturer of oil burners, using newspapers exclusively, increased his advertising outlay by more than $100,000, and realized a 37% increase in sales in 1931.

Four drug concerns substantially raised their newspaper expenditures in 1931. Two recorded the best year in their histories, one doubled its net of the year preceding, and the other recorded a $60,000 rise in profits.

A transportation company spent $25,000 more in newspapers, and realized earnings that were $100,000 greater than the year preceding.

A manufacturer of soft drinks by increasing advertising generally and spending $60,000 more in newspapers, boosted profits half a million dollars.

Four tobacco companies increased their aggregate expenditures in newspapers by 30%, from $20,000,000 in 1930 to $26, 000,000 in 1931, and raised aggregate earnings from $105,200,000 to $111,300,000.

A shoe marketing concern increased newspaper advertising $50,000; and finished the year with production schedules running 28% ahead of 1930.

Four companies which shifted to newspapers, after previously using other mediums, recorded aggregate net profits of $4,477,000 in 1931 compared with $1,622,000 in 1930.

A manufacturer in the highly competitive electric refrigerator field spent $200,000 last year in newspapers, and dollar sales for the year were 460% of sales for 1930.

Why are these advertisers finding newspapers the answer to depression? In their own words, because: (1) newspapers realize immediate sales, (2) newspapers spot the profitable markets, (3) newspaper advertising can be adjusted to daily business changes.

"If you have goods for sale and want to sell them quickly, use newspaper advertising," say officials of one large concern whose sales volume totaled $285,000,000 in 1931.

"To spot business conditions and concentrate on profitable markets," is the reason given by a prominent manufacturer who recently shifted to newspapers.

A food merchant, spending more than $2,000,000 annually in newspaper space, asserts: "We are taking full advantage of the flexibility permitted by this medium which may be used generally, or concentrated wherever the need seems to be the greatest. This method has proven profitable and will be continued even more aggressively in 1932."

These and many other endorsements and successes appear in the survey cited below. It's not what we say, it's what they say and did, that proclaims newspaper advertising a way to remove red ink.

Ulster Garden Club Had Brilliant Fete

Not for many a year has there been so remarkable and brilliant a gathering in Ulster county as that of the Ulster Garden Club at the historic home of the Hon. and Mrs. Frederick B. Johnson at Malden, Tuesday afternoon.

There were eminent clergymen, artists, writers, judges and countless number of housewives and beautifully gowned women.

Mr. Johnson was the orator of the occasion. His address was a lofty and extremely witty tribute to the members of the club for their highly successful effort in forming and maintaining so important and entirely altruistic an organization in this money-grubbing and materialistic age.

To all the guests collectively and individually, he conveyed not only his own appreciation and thanks, but the appreciation and thanks of the civilized part of humanity.

Judge Clearwater who next was introduced said he was sure his introduction did not surpass the one a short time previous when one beautiful lady said to another equally beautiful, "I very much wish you to know my beloved friend Judge Clearwater. He is the man who owns forty old silver teaspoons." "That," said the Judge, "was a new aureole for me."

Continuing he said it was an honor and a pleasure to renew his acquaintance with the Bigelow household to which frequently he came with his relative and preceptor, Jacob Hardenburgh. In the days when he was a law student in the latter's office, to visit Mr. Bigelow, illustrious father, John Bigelow, secretary of state, minister to France, intimate friend and biographer of that great statesman and governor of New York, Samuel J. Tilden.

"Glancing around this marvelous gathering," said the Judge, "I am reminded of a review in a recent number of the Literary Supplement of the London Times of a new life of Semerimas the author of which says that the attire of women today is indicative of a return to the seductive amorous allurement of the reign of that great Queen. You all will remember that a potent element of the religion of forty three centuries ago was the worship of nature. If there be any connection between the age of Semerimas and this decade of the twentieth century it is not one of anomalous but a religion of her time of which the shrines consecrated by this Garden Club are the temples."

In closing the Judge said, "My principal function here is to move the adoption of a vote of thanks to our talented and highly distinguished host, who is a scholar, diplomat and gentleman. My doing this is akin to carrying a garland of roses to far away Cathay or handing a goblet of modern wine to the holder of a chalice filled to overflowing with the rare and golden vintage of many a far off clime."

The vote unanimously was carried with tumultuous acclaim.

Miss Howe of Charleston, South Carolina, closed the gathering with a number of exceedingly beautiful piano selections.

The sun was setting upon the summits of the Taconic Mountains when after the service of bounteous refreshments the gathering reluctantly left the stately and handsome home of the Bigelows.

The meeting was held out of doors in the beautiful amphitheatre formed by the wonderful flower garden and ancient trees, the foreground being the limpid waters of the Hudson River.

Guests were present from Ontario, Woodstock, the Maverick, Rhinebeck, Hyde Park, Barrytown, Albany.

NEW HURLEY
New Hurley, July 20—Choir rehearsal will be held in the church Friday evening, July 22.

Mr. and Mrs. George Schoonmaker and children and Mrs. Schoonmaker's mother of Portland, Maine, returned home on Monday after spending a week with his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schoonmaker, Howard Burrows of Brooklyn is spending some time with his aunt, Mrs. Harvey Soesman, in this place.

Mrs. Deborah Shay, who has been spending some time with her niece in Poughkeepsie, came to the home of her brother, Robert Trumper, at Modena on Saturday.

Mrs. Isaac Sutton and daughter accompanied Hallock Sutton and daughter Winifred, on a motor trip through the Catskills last Tuesday, calling on friends at Delhi and Hobart, Delaware county.

The Christian Endeavor Society of this place is invited to join the Wallkill C. E. Society in a meeting at the park in Wallkill next Sunday evening at 7:30 P. M.

The Young Woman's Club was very pleasantly entertained at the home of Jeanette Van Arendonk on Friday afternoon of last week.

Twelve members were present and final plans were made for the church fair to be held Thursday evening, July 21, on the church grounds.

Delicious refreshments were served and the next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. George Eckert.

WAR CHILDREN SEEK FOR KIN IN FRANCE

Thousands, Ignorant of Their Names, Ask for Help.

Paris—Thousands of war children separated from parents, brothers and sisters during the world conflict are still seeking members of their families 14 years after the armistice. Their ages range from fourteen to sixteen years. Most of them were too young to remember their names or where they lived when forced out of their homes by raids or bombardments.

Several times a year the Society of War Children of the Nation at Saint Quentin publishes lists of the children in its care.

Lucien Denise, for instance, born at Cambrai and now twenty years old, can remember that his mother was taken to a hospital just before the Germans entered his home town. He has not seen or heard of her since.

Georges Hammer, who lived at Desseville Sumain and whose brother died in the war, is seeking his sister, Eva. Georges Wallebrand, now seventeen, was brought up by the Germans as a civil prisoner. He has no idea where his parents are, for he was taken from them when he was three years old.

Marceline and his sister Madeleine were picked up as orphans by officials at Laon. They proved they had been in various parts of France searching for their parents, whom they had not seen since the outbreak of the war.

Eugene Henri Cagny, from Chauny, will receive an inheritance if he can be found. Official records show that his father was killed at Verdun in 1916.

There are thousands of similar cases. Twenty parents have been found by their children in recent months, but the percentage of reunions 14 years after the war is pathetically small.

Postal Robberies More Than Double in a Year

Washington—Postal robberies during the current fiscal year have increased to more than double their usual number. It has been revealed by the Post Office department.

Although bandits and holdup men have been unusually active, it was stated in the report, other kinds of postal law violations have decreased slightly, with the result that total arrests by department inspectors have this year been lower than during any year since 1927.

One theory advanced as to the cause of the increase in robberies is that the depression may have driven unemployed men to stealing. Another is that the bandits may have discovered a new source of revenue in the small branch post offices run by store proprietors.

Major robberies involving thefts of $5,000 or more this year are expected to total more than 15. The figure in 1931 was 10, which was 30 per cent higher than the average.

If robberies continue at the same rate in the last month of the fiscal year, it is believed thefts will total more than $300,000, of which the department expects to recover $250,000, based on averages.

Tavern School Teaches Dumb Man to Read Lips

Ide, Devonshire, England.—For 24 years Walt Luke was deaf and dumb. Every night he visited the public house drinking cider with his fellow villagers, saying nothing. This became too much for them, so they decided to teach Luke to talk.

Amid smoke and tankards of cider they made syllables with their mouths and passed words written on pieces of paper to him. Watching and studying their lip talk, Luke used to repeat the signs after them. Their endeavor, although tedious, proved successful. Walt Luke could speak. The very first words he said were "Pint, please," and the next, "Half pint." Lip talk continued and Luke has become very efficient.

Woman "Dies" Twice in One Afternoon

New York.—Mrs. Amelia Redino, forty-three years old, was declared dead twice in one day.

Early in the afternoon, the woman suddenly collapsed from a heart attack, and was declared dead for four minutes.

Three emergency crews, responding to her husband's call, worked over Mrs. Redino for four hours and finally succeeded in reviving her. Meanwhile 40 friends and neighbors knelt in prayer on the street outside the home.

Shortly afterward Mrs. Redino again collapsed and all efforts to revive her failed.

Hearing Continues In Value Of Reservoir

and Electricity when the reservoir was completed and turned over to that department for operation and maintenance, was called to show from where certain data was secured in preparing the map which was offered in evidence. Mr. Hubbard said that the assessment rolls in the various school districts have been identical for years as regards the city's property except for apparent errors in copying the rolls. In 1927 in one district an error in copying was made. The city owns 444 acres in that district but in 1923 in copying the figures from the previous roll the acreage was put down as 146 acres and this has since been copied. The city's holdings have been the same for years and the change was apparently an error in copying figures.

Mr. Hubbard explained how the original survey was made and the manner in which the reservoir basin was laid out and property lines determined.

He said there was about 29 miles of wire fence and posts about the property in the town of Olive and about one mile of stone fence. On cross examination by Mr. Flemming he said this fence had been built in 1912 to 1915 and had been repaired from time to time but he depreciated the fence had depreciated 50 per cent in value since its erection. Besides the damage done by cars striking the fence, fishermen cut the wire to get to the reservoir to fish and the big element of depreciation was caused by the age and weather.

The city of New York constructed and now maintains 21.8 miles of substitute highways in the town of Olive.

Mr. Hubbard said that of the planting of trees about the property in the town of Olive considerable was white pine which was affected by the white pine blister. This depreciated the value of the trees and they were being gradually replaced as they became damaged. Disease played a part in damage to the trees and decreased their value.

James E. Snead, real estate expert, was called and testified to the value of the city's lands in the town of Olive and the ordinary buildings thereon. He did not qualify as an expert of special or "unique" structures and these values will later be estimated by expert engineers familiar with their costs.

Object To Separation

Objection was made to the separation of the property into parcels according to school districts on the grounds that the property was one complete plant and should be valued as such. Referee Mambert permitted the testimony to go in as to value by school districts but stated that he might later entertain a motion to strike out such evidence.

Mr. Flemming held that all assessors had not assessed the lands in Olive as separate parcels but as one parcel at $5,000,000 and that it was unfair to attempt to place a valuation by smaller parcels as the city sought to do.

Mr. Snead testified that the lands and ordinary buildings in the seven school districts were of the following values:

School District No. 2, acreage 667, exclusive of that taken for road purposes, value $23,350.

School District No. 3, acreage 1314, exclusive of that taken for road purposes, value $78,840.

School District No. 4, acreage 1033, exclusive of that taken for road purposes, value $45,320.

School District No. 5, acreage 2664, exclusive of that taken for road purposes, value $159,840.

School District No. 6, acreage 456, exclusive of that taken for road purposes, value $2,520.

School District No. 8, acreage 1338, exclusive of that taken for road purposes, value $103,350.

School District No. 9, acreage 1183, exclusive of that taken for highway purposes, value $59,150.

Mr. Flemming objected particularly to the valuation placed by Mr. Snead on the property in district 5. The district in which the machine shops, garage, repair shops, etc., are located. He stated that a market value on these buildings was unfair as the buildings had been erected for a special purpose and they were a part of the entire plant and devoted to use of that plant and that a market value on such property was not the true value of the buildings which had no market value separate and apart from the reservoir use.

Cross-examined.

Mr. Snead was then cross-examined as to his qualifications and knowledge of real estate values in the town of Olive. He testified he had sold over a half million dollars worth of property on Wall street in Kingston and was familiar with the town of Olive. He said he had been a resident and property owner there during the construction of the reservoir and had bought and sold prop-

CARNIVAL TO BE HELD FOR THREE EVENINGS

A large gathering of men of the Men's Club of the Church of the Comforter held a very important meeting at the church hall on Tuesday evening. This meeting was held for the purpose of further planning for the carnival that will be held at the Comforter Hall on Friday and Saturday nights.

This caused a good natured feeling between all parties in the court room, especially since the court room had grown hot and oppressive during the afternoon session. Perhaps visions of cool, refreshing "suds" caused the feeling of good will.

Further cross-examination of Mr. Snead was postponed until copies of photographs similar to those introduced in the 1929 proceeding could be acquired.
